

What is Starphire Glass?

Starphire glass is a low iron glass made from silica.

It's the clearest glass on the market.

Iron particles are removed from the silica through a special process, leaving just 0.01% ferric oxide. The elimination process gives the glass better clarity than standard glass, which has up to 10 times the amount of ferric oxide giving the glass its typical green tint.

Starphire glass has the same strength and resistance to scratching as clear alternatives with better clarity and visible light transmittance than ordinary glass.

It's easy to clean and because of its clarity, Starphire glass is the perfect glass for our Lightboards.
